

Name: Carmen Kelly Cox

One sentence that describes me and my writing:

I tell stories of God's faithfulness through ordinary people to inspire hope, courage, and obedience for generations to come.

Brief bio:

Carmen Kelly Cox is a writer, speaker, and founder of Cherished Legacies, where she helps families preserve and share their stories. A longtime homeschool mom and advocate, Carmen has a passion for helping others recognize God's faithfulness in everyday life. Her articles have appeared in WORLD News Group, and she writes narrative nonfiction, devotionals, Bible studies, and children's books that encourage readers to trust God and leave a legacy of faith.

Why I write:

I write because I have experienced God's faithfulness in both the joys and hardest seasons of life. My desire is to encourage others through stories of ordinary people whom God uses in extraordinary ways and to help children and families build hope and resilience for whatever lies ahead.

I write:

Fiction: ___ short stories _X_ books

Genres: Children's Fiction

Nonfiction: _X_ articles _X_ personal experience stories _X_ devotionals _X_ books

Genres: Narrative Nonfiction, Bible Studies, Christian Living

My audience: _X_ Christians _X_ general public _X_ women ___ men teens _X_ children

I'm currently working on:

A narrative nonfiction book, Bible studies, a children's series featuring ordinary heroes, and resources to help families preserve and share their stories.

My greatest joy and/or struggle in writing is:

My greatest joy is helping people recognize God's faithfulness in their own stories and inspiring hope for future generations. My greatest struggle is having too many irons in the fire and learning which projects deserve my attention first.

I'd like to meet writers who:

☐ I belong to a writers' group that is open to new members.

☒ I would like to find a critique group and connect with other writers who desire to tell stories that matter and point others toward God's faithfulness.
