Emery Audubon’s future is bright. She’s been accepted into Holworthy Halls, New America’s most prestigious university. She doesn’t mind that Holworthy founded the Educational Reform Initiative — an initiative that banned the Bible and passed laws requiring schools to teach there is no God.

But everything changes when a fellow student invites her to take an illegal class on Revelation’s symbols, a class that meets in secret in the Histories Department basement. There Emery’s confronted with truths no one taught her in school, a spiritual war she’s never noticed until now, and the God who reigns and redeems.

Emery’s life is shaken even more when Holworthy’s Dean of Histories discovers she’s taking the class. Will this nationally recognized academic leader ruin her life, which he now has set out to do? Or will Emery use unexpected truths from Revelation to reform her school — and the entire nation.
