

Name: Brenda S. Cox

One sentence that describes me and my writing: I write about Jane Austen and the church and clergy in her novels and her world.

Brief bio: Brenda S. Cox is the author of Fashionable Goodness: Christianity in Jane Austen's England, which explores connections between Austen's work, her Church of England, and prominent events and people in English Christianity at the time. She writes for Jane Austen's Regency World magazine, Persuasions On-Line, the website Jane Austen's World, and her own blog, Faith, Science, Joy, and Jane Austen. Brenda has presented on Austen and the church to Jane Austen groups in the US, Canada, England, Australia, and New Zealand.

Why I write: To glorify God and bless others

I write:

Fiction: ☐ short stories ☒ books Genres:

Nonfiction: ☒ articles ☐ personal experience stories ☐ devotions ☒ books Genres:

Other: ☐ poetry ☐ scripts

My audience ☒ Christians ☒ general public (Jane Austen fans) ☒ women ☐ men ☒ teens ☐ children

I'm currently working on: a novel that is a sequel to Jane Austen's Sense and Sensibility, with Christian themes; and a book on Jane Austen's clergymen and their wives.

My greatest joy and/or struggle in writing is: I love sharing with and learning from other Jane Austen fans, and helping them see the Christian faith woven through this wonderful author's work.
